Significant Weather

- Red Flag Warning is in effect from 1200 hours to 1800 hours Saturday for areas of Imperial, Riverside and San Bernardino Counties.

Weather

WEATHER SYNOPSIS BY REGION:

NORTHERN CALIFORNIA AND CENTRAL COASTAL AREAS:

Eureka Weather:

Building high pressure will result in warm and dry weather over the weekend. Rain chances will return Sunday night into Monday as a cold front quickly moves through northwest California.

San Francisco Weather:

Dry weather can be expected through the middle of next week. Temperatures will warm through the weekend -- possibly to record breaking levels. Some cooling can be expected early next week as onshore flow returns.

CENTRAL CALIFORNIA AND SOUTHERN SAN JOAQUIN VALLEY

Sacramento Weather:

Warm and dry weather is forecasted over the weekend with temperatures 10 to 20 degrees above normal. A weak system will pass to the north on Monday bringing cooler temperatures and a chance of light precipitation north of interstate 80. There is low confidence in possible unsettled weather for middle to late next week.

Hanford Weather:

Few clouds and above normal temperatures are expected through Monday. Afternoons will be warmest Sunday and Monday and will approach near record levels in the San Joaquin Valley and nearby foothills.

WEATHER SYNOPSIS BY REGION: (Cont.)

SOUTHERN CALIFORNIA:

Los Angeles Weather:

High pressure and offshore winds will dominate the weather from now through Sunday afternoon. Skies will be mostly clear and daytime high temperatures will be 10 degrees above normal temperatures in most areas. The high breaks down and winds turn onshore Sunday evening and is should cool through early next week.

Extreme Southwestern California Including Orange, San Diego, Western Riverside and Southwestern San Bernardino Counties:

Strengthening high pressure aloft along with strengthening surface high pressure over Nevada will continue into the weekend with a warming trend. The warming trend will spread toward the coast on Sunday. Weak locally moderate offshore flow will produce local gusty northeast winds below canyons and passes at times. A trough of low pressure moving in from the pacific northwest into the central and southern Rockies and plains will bring onshore flow and a cooling trend Monday and Tuesday.

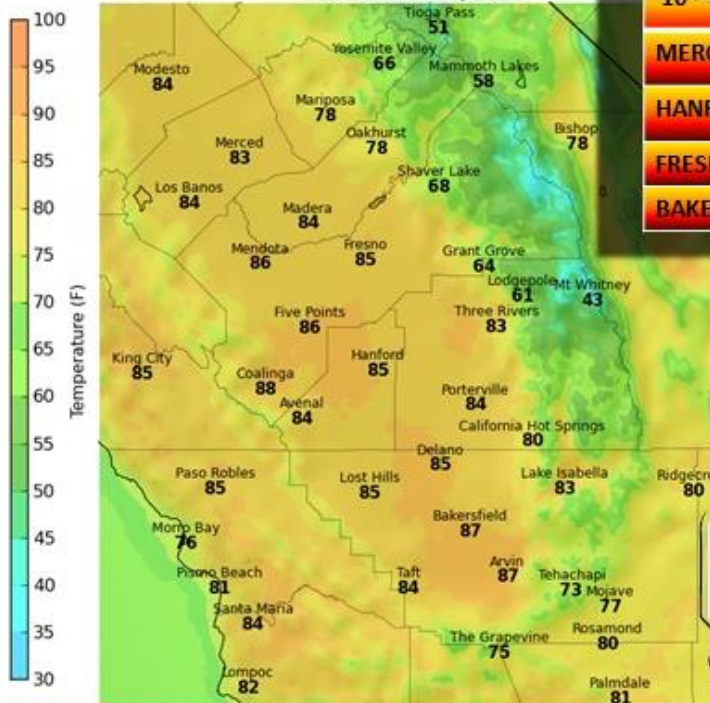

Southeast California Weather:

A cold front will pass across the area tonight shifting winds to the northwest to north and increasing them to 6-14 knots with gusts to around 20 knots. Winds will then decrease across the area Saturday except in the Colorado River Valley where they will increase from the north to northeast to 20-30 knots with gusts of 30-35 knots.

SIGNIFICANT EVENTS / ACTIVITY

Cal EOC Incident – 2014 Drought

Information as of 3/14/14

Situational Summary: (Updated)

On January 17, 2014 Governor Edmund G. Brown proclaimed a State of Emergency and directed state officials to take all necessary actions to prepare for drought conditions. The State Operation Center (SOC) is activated to implement objectives in support of the Governor's priorities. The lack of winter rain and snowfall has resulted in extremely dry conditions in many parts of the State. Reservoir levels are down significantly from where they should be on average for this time of year. If conditions continue without substantial rainfall, severe impacts to municipal water supplies, agriculture (plants and livestock) and firefighting capabilities are likely in store for the State over the next few months. Negative economic impacts will also result.

Despite above average rain and snow in February and early March, much of California has received only about 50% of normal precipitation. Heavy rain and snow would have to fall throughout California very frequently from now until May to reach average annual rain and snowfall levels. Even with such precipitation, California would remain in drought conditions, due to low water supplies in reservoirs from the two previous dry years. The drought could result in severe impacts to the municipal water supplies, wells, agriculture (plants and livestock) and firefighting capabilities for several months. The SOC continues to be activated to monitor the situation statewide, and support regional and local operational areas.

- The Drought Task Force is scheduled to meet on March 28, 2014 in Shasta County. The Taskforce continues to meet regularly to take actions that conserve water and coordinate state response to the drought.

Cal EOC Incident – 2014 Drought (cont'd)

Information as of 3/14/14

Situational Summary: (Cont.)

- The State Water Resource Control Board (SWRCB) staff participated in the Small Systems Inter-Agency Outreach Committee meeting USDA Rural Development, California Water/Wastewater Agency Response Network and Rural Community Assistance Corporation on March 5, 2014.
- The recent snowpack survey conducted on 3/12/14, recorded California snowpack at 29% of normal. The statewide snowpack as of March 6 indicates a snow water content of 33 percent of average to date and 30 percent of the April 1 average.
- DWR has announced that water essential for health and safety will be delivered through the state water project in spite of the zero allocation policy. Deliveries will be boosted if storms produce enough rain and snow to increase reservoir storage and the snow pack.
- On March 27, 2014, SWRCB will be at the groundbreaking ceremony for the City of Visalia's $147 million Water Conservation Plant upgrade and recycled water distribution pipeline, made possible by an earlier CWA SRF loan from the State Water Board.
- Cal OES continues to gather drought-related costs from state agencies and local governments.
